Legent

Gentlemen:

Until you took over my accounts with Pioneer Franklin, and MFS mutual funds, I was receiving dividend checks on a regular basis.

I have asked you why am I no longer receiving these checks.
You have done nothing to rectify this situation. I am past 80 years old and would like to receive this income.

Please reinstate the policy of my receiving my checks.

I would like to have Advisory Financial Consultants as my broker, so please advise the three companies that you are relinquishing my accounts with you as the broker-dealer and substituting Advisory Financial Consultants as my Broker-Dealer now.

Sincerely,

Subject: Your Business Practices that Cheat
Small Investors

To Whom It May Concern

My financial planner, Ruthe Gomez, of many years always gave me excellent advice about augmenting my pension, social security and military beneficiary as a dependent. I invested in mutual funds which she advised for several years while I was teaching. I received social security and military benefits from my husband, a veteran of World War II.

When I retired from teaching at age 64 I no longer made contributions to my funds. However, I did not withdraw the money from my funds except was required by law when reaching age 70 1/2. Ruthe Gomez helped me to establish the funds in a tax advantage to me. At the same time the interest generated by the funds was re-invested to increase my investment. However you were dishonest with Ms Gomez. Once you had her clients you told to investment companies to send the interest to your "special" bank account. The money was ^{not} given to investors as myself. It seems that this is an unethical scheme.

that your company decided to pursue for increasing your profit. ENRON is a prime example of not only failing but robbing its employees of their pension investments. The present sub-prime mortgage payment failures resulting in foreclosures is an example of "Greedy Banking-Lending- and also investment managements." All of these loses were previously illegal until the Republican Party was purchased by Corporations.

If your company wants to be profitable, I suggest you be ethical. Forget the sleazy practices that the present government has made legal. Return to a business practice that looks to your clients interest while you make a fair profit. Otherwise you are cheating your clients. Can you afford to lose and destroy most of us? Our wealthy U.S. citizens only represent 10% or less. They are not many potential customers. I think you are missing the point when your company basically cheats small investors.

I will share my experience with my affiliation: The NEA, the CTA, the CRTA, my Church UCC, Oakland Lyric Opera, S.F. Opera Guild, American Conservatory Theater, Berkeley Repertory Theater, Central Works, Berkeley City Club, California Alumni Association (Berkeley U.C.C.) Lincoln High School Alumni Association, San Francisco.

In other words I want to expose the deceitful practices of many financial companies. Your company is a prime example.

I do not want to have any association. You have attempted to cheat me on all my investments. You have also cheated my daughter to the tune of $25,000. My evaluation of your company is that you are at worst criminal and at best unethical.

If you turn your company around to a reliable company honestly increasing your investors investments with their interest returns I would be willing to withdraw my criticisms. However I am cynical. It seems middle class investors as myself are to be used for the excessive profit of the company. I will do my best to thwart you.

P.S. Most of the members of my affiliations are educated professional middle-class citizens as I am. A few members of my musical and theatrical affiliations are probably wealthy. You are destroying the large base of potential clients for a short term profit that will not continue into the future.

Dear Becky,

Please be informed that we no longer want you, Enterprise, to be custodian of our accounts. After many months of calling and requesting that interest monies be reinvested into the accounts, not into your Legent account, we continue to lack evidence that this has been done in all instances, and for all the interest accrued to date. We want to manage our accounts ourselves, as Orphan Accounts, with no broker/dealer involved. We want evidence that this has been done by November 30, 2007 or we will be forced to notify the SEC, FINRA and our attorney regarding your lack of follow through and cooperation.

Immediate response and completion of this is required.

Sincerely,

Robert S. Thomas
